Youth Participation Terms & Onboarding Guide

Welcome to JEVORA

Congratulations on taking the first step. JEVORA is a community work platform designed to help people discover suitable opportunities, apply for work that matches their verified age and profile, and keep the work and payment journey organized.

How JEVORA works

1. Create an account and verify your email address.
2. Submit the required personal and age information through the JEVORA verification process.
3. JEVORA reviews the submitted details and notifies you of the outcome.
4. If your details are approved, JEVORA may invite you to a short skill assessment. The assessment invitation can include a scheduled date, time, and Google Meet link.
5. Access to opportunities is limited according to the age information verified by JEVORA and the rules applied to each opportunity.

Safety and truthful information

JEVORA is intended to support age-appropriate participation. Users must provide truthful information, must not impersonate another person, and must not forge or falsify documents, signatures, dates of birth, or other verification information. If you are under 18, you are responsible for obtaining any parent/guardian consent or other permission that may be required for your participation. JEVORA’s onboarding flow does not treat this document as proof of guardianship.

Privacy and verification

Verification information is used for account and age-access decisions. Sensitive verification documents are handled through the verification workflow and may be retained only for the period configured by JEVORA. Do not email passwords, one-time codes, or other account secrets.

Skill assessment

A skill assessment is a short conversation and/or task intended to understand a participant’s skills and suitability for age-appropriate opportunities. An approval email will identify the participant, scheduled date and time, and the Google Meet link.
